According to Muhammad Ali, the CIA is also hunting some rare game—the former world heavy-weight champion himself.

“The president has ordered a personal watch on me. The government says I am subversive,” Ali told reporters at London’s Heathrow Airport yesterday as he concluded a business trip. “They know I am the leader of a billion black people,” he continued. “They are the president’s men and they have a file on me in the Pentagon six foot high.”

Ali claimed that two CIA agents were aboard the British Airways plane taking him to Chicago. However, British Airways said that “we do not know of any CIA men on the plane.”
